AUGUST 2019

TERM 3

WEEK 4

MCS Students, Staff & Parents, braved the freezing temperatures of Broken Hill last Thursday & Friday to represent their school at the PSSA Athletics Carnival.

Principals ParSKU

Week four is proving to be as busy as ever. The Visual Design students are having a great, but tiring, time in the Northern Territory and have learnt a lot about designing, making and selling Art. I'm looking forward to the report in next week's newsletter.

Today our staff are working with the Instructional Leadership team on Quality Teaching Rounds (QTR). QTR involves teachers learning together at school. QTR builds significant improvements in the quality of teaching and enhances student achievement.

Thursday, 22 August is our primary Book Week parade and assembly next week. Unfortunately I won't be present as I will be travelling back from the Ronny Gibbs Challenge in Bourke with the secondary students. The staff welcomes any parent/community member wanting to dress up and take part in the parade!

On behalf of Menindee Central School I'd like to express my sincerest condolences to the family and friends of Noeline Ferguson who passed away suddenly on Saturday. Noeline was a former student, valued employee, and an involved mother and grandmother of MCS.

Until next week,
Fiona

Word Mania!

In stage 4 and 5 English students are playing Word Mania against students all over NSW and Australia. The competition round started yesterday (Monday 12th August). Our kids finished the practice rounds placed really high in the region for such a small group.

Year 7 finished 2nd. Year 8 finished 4th (with only 3 students in the group!) and Year 9 and 10 finished 2nd.

Students are encouraged to play this on their devices in lieu of English homework for the week.

Justice Advocacy Service

About the service

The Justice Advocacy Service (JAS) will support people with cognitive impairment in contact with the NSW criminal justice system, including as victims, witnesses and suspects/defendants to exercise their rights and fully participate in the process. The service will provide support to both adults and young people with cognitive impairment.

The service will use an individual advocacy approach by arranging a support person to be with victims, witnesses and suspects/defendants when they are in contact with police, courts and legal representatives.

JAS will be delivered by the Intellectual Disability Rights Service (IDRS).

The service will be available across NSW including in rural, regional and remote areas, and concentrated in NSW Police Area Commands, Police Districts and around central court locations.

The service will begin to rollout from 1 July 2019 and will be available at all locations by 30 August 2019. A full list of rollout dates and locations is available in the Justice Advocacy Service Rollout Information for Police Stations and Court and Legal Locations Fact Sheets.

The service will have seven core functions:

1. Supports for suspects/defendants with cognitive impairment in police custody.

5. Training for Justice agency staff on working with people with cognitive impairment in contact with the criminal justice system.
6. Capacity building and peer mentoring for people with cognitive impairment in contact with the criminal justice system.
7. Free legal advice from a trained solicitor for suspects with cognitive impairment in police custody.

Eligibility:

JAS will be available to victims, witnesses and suspects/defendants in contact with the NSW criminal justice system who may have a cognitive impairment. A potential client will not need to provide evidence of cognitive impairment to access the service. If police, court or legal representatives believe the person may have a cognitive impairment, a referral can be made by calling JAS on 1300 665 908. More information about making a referral is available in the Justice Advocacy Service Making a Referral Fact Sheet.
